Dear all,

Ofsted report, June 2024: "Hunslet Moor Primary School continues to be a good school."

I am pleased to share that the latest Ofsted report is now live on the Ofsted website. The report can be viewed here: <https://reports.ofsted.gov.uk/provider/21/107951> and attached below. The report is based on an 'ungraded' inspection that took place in April 2024. The school has been deemed to continue to be a "good school." Thank you to all who took the opportunity during the inspection to share their thoughts and opinions of the school.

We are proud of the strengths and achievements that are recognised and take confidence that the area for development aligns with what has been identified by leaders, having informed this year's School Development Plan. Below are some areas I would like to highlight from within the report:

Good behaviour: "Leaders have established high expectations for pupils' behaviour... The school has developed effective systems for good behaviour."

Strong starts in the early years: "Pupils make strong starts in the early years, quickly becoming confident and fluent readers... Right from the start in early years, children show positive attitudes towards their learning."

Good progress: "Published assessment data indicates that the proportion of pupils leaving school meeting age-related expectations is low. However, the same data indicates that pupils make good progress over time from their starting points."

"The schools focused work on the core curriculum is having a positive impact. Pupils work in their books and lessons show s that pupils are making good progress and achieving well."

Effective adaptive teaching: "The school quickly identifies pupils who have SEND. Staff adapt their teaching to ensure that pupils with SEND achieve well."

High expectations for every child's attendance: "The school prioritises regular attendance and leaders act quickly when pupil's attendance causes concern. Despite an exhaustive range of strategies employed by leaders, some pupils are not in school often enough."

Effective safeguarding and personal development programme:

"Pupils benefit from the school's personal development programme. They are taught about healthy lifestyles and how to keep themselves safe, including when they are online. Pupils understand the importance of equality and they celebrate the diversity of the school population."

"The arrangements for safeguarding are effective."

Positive feedback from stakeholders:

“Pupils are proud to attend Hunslet Moor Primary School.”

“Parents appreciate the support they receive.”

The vast majority of staff value the support provided by leaders... Staff are proud to be part of the Hunslet Moor team.”

Moving forward:

This year, the development of the wider curriculum has been of significant focus. Our intention and ambition is to continue to develop the teaching and learning across all foundation subjects to ensure it is as impactful of our teaching of early reading, English and Maths. The Inspector took confidence in leaders understanding of this and actions that have already been taken: “The school is ambitious to provide high- quality education, but is not fully realised across the wider curriculum. The school knows what needs to improve and this work has begun.”

Good attendance and punctuality of every pupil will also continue to be one of intense focus for us.

On behalf of our Governors and myself, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Hunslet Moor staff and volunteers who often go above and beyond to enable the achievements of our pupils, and the efforts from many members of the school community in supporting and contributing to the work of the School. It is only through such partnership working, that we can achieve the best outcomes for our pupils!

We hope you will take a few minutes to read this report for yourself and we welcome any feedback. If you would like to discuss any aspect of this report further, please make contact with the Office.

Kind regards,

Miss Darley
Headteacher

Inspection of a good school: Hunslet Moor Primary School

Fairford Avenue, Leeds, West Yorkshire LS11 5EL

---

Inspection dates:

23 and 24 April 2024

Outcome

Hunslet Moor Primary School continues to be a good school.

What is it like to attend this school?

Pupils are proud to attend Hunslet Moor Primary School. They say that adults are kind and keep them safe. Pupils enjoy their lessons and the wider opportunities the school creates, such as clubs, trips to the farm and special events like pyjama day. They appreciate the opportunity to have a free breakfast every day.

Staff have created a caring and nurturing environment for all pupils. They provide effective support for pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND). Pupils talk positively about the help that they get from adults.

Leaders have established high expectations of pupils' behaviour. These are commonly understood by pupils and staff. Pupils behave well in class and around school. The school has developed effective systems to secure good behaviour. Bullying is rare and is dealt with effectively by adults. Pupils are highly motivated to collect 'dream points' as a reward for positive behaviour.

The school is ambitious to provide a high-quality education, but this is not fully realised across the wider curriculum. The school knows what needs to improve and this work has begun. Some areas of the curriculum lack depth and are not precisely sequenced. This means in these subjects pupils do not build upon their learning as well. This limits how well they can deepen their understanding over time.

What does the school do well and what does it need to do better?

School leaders have prioritised the development of English and mathematics. They have focused on ensuring that pupils remember the content that they are learning. Activities to support pupils to recall prior knowledge are embedded into lessons. Pupils discuss what they know, use quizzes and complete memory grids to review previous learning. Staff regularly check what pupils know and use targeted assessment to identify pupils who may need additional support, including those pupils arriving new to school. This supports pupils to remember what they have learned.

The teaching of early reading is effective. Pupils make a strong start in the early years, quickly becoming confident and fluent readers. Trained adults teach daily phonics lessons with skill and enthusiasm. Pupils take books home that match their phonics knowledge. Pupils who need extra help are supported through individual reading time and daily intervention sessions.

Published assessment data indicates that the proportion of pupils leaving school meeting age-related expectations is low. The school has faced significant challenges since the last inspection. These include assessing and addressing the needs of a large influx of pupils with complex needs. There have also been significant changes in staffing and school leadership. Leaders have worked tirelessly to overcome these challenges. The school's focused work on the core curriculum is having a positive impact. Pupils' work in their books and lessons shows that pupils are making good progress and achieving well.

In some foundation subjects there is still work to do. Leaders have identified what pupils will learn. However, the important knowledge that they want pupils to remember is not clearly defined. For example, in geography, learning is limited to remembering similar facts for a greater number of regions. In some subjects the curriculum does not have the precise detail to enable pupils to deepen their understanding over time through making links and comparisons. Pupils do not have the opportunity to apply what they have learned.

Right from the start in early years, children show positive attitudes towards their learning. Children learn to make friends, share and take turns. They respond well to clear routines and expectations and are ready to meet to challenge of key stage 1. Children are taught to be independent in the learning environment, to ask questions and to listen attentively to adults.

The school quickly identifies pupils who have SEND. Staff adapt their teaching to ensure that pupils with SEND achieve well. For a small number of pupils with SEND a highly personalised curriculum is in place. This helps to meet their very specific needs. Staff work closely with specialists to ensure pupils and families receive the support they need. The school prioritises regular attendance and leaders act quickly when pupils' attendance causes concern. Despite an exhaustive range of strategies employed by leaders, some pupils are not in school often enough.

Pupils benefit from the school's personal development programme. They are taught about healthy lifestyles and how to keep themselves safe, including when they are online. Pupils understand the importance of equality and they celebrate the diversity of the school population. One pupil summed it up by saying 'We all look very different on the outside, but we are just the same on the inside.'

Leaders, including governors, have an accurate understanding of what the school does well. They also know where it needs to improve. The school holds events to engage parents, such as weekly coffee mornings. Parents appreciate the support they receive.

The vast majority of staff value the support provided by leaders. They welcomed the review of the marking policy to reduce workload. Staff are proud to be part of the Hunslet Moor team.

Safeguarding

The arrangements for safeguarding are effective.

What does the school need to do to improve?

(Information for the school and appropriate authority)

- In some foundation subjects, the school's curriculum does not identify the precise knowledge and concepts that leaders intend pupils to learn. Learning is limited to the recall of simple knowledge. In these subjects, pupils do not make links between learning over time. They do not apply what they already know to support them to draw conclusions. The school must ensure that the curriculum in foundation subjects builds on prior learning, so that pupils go beyond recalling facts and develop a deep body of knowledge in all subjects.

Background

When we have judged a school to be good, we will then normally go into the school about once every four years to confirm that the school remains good. This is called an ungraded inspection, and it is carried out under section 8 of the Education Act 2005. We do not give graded judgements on an ungraded inspection. However, if we find evidence that a school would now receive a higher or lower grade, then the next inspection will be a graded inspection, which is carried out under section 5 of the Act. Usually this is within one to two years of the date of the ungraded inspection. If we have serious concerns about safeguarding, behaviour or the quality of education, we will deem the ungraded inspection a graded inspection immediately.

This is the first ungraded inspection since we judged the school to be good in November 2018.

How can I feed back my views?

You can use Ofsted Parent View to give Ofsted your opinion on your child's school, or to find out what other parents and carers think. We use information from Ofsted Parent View when deciding which schools to inspect, when to inspect them and as part of their inspection.

The Department for Education has further guidance on how to complain about a school.

Further information

You can search for published performance information about the school.

In the report, 'disadvantaged pupils' is used to mean pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND); pupils who meet the definition of children in need of help and protection; pupils receiving statutory local authority support from a social worker; and pupils who otherwise meet the criteria used for deciding the school's pupil premium funding (this includes pupils claiming free school meals at any point in the last six years, looked after children (children in local authority care) and/or children who left care through adoption or another formal route).
